Life insurer refuses to cover vaccine death

An explosive case is currently being hotly debated on social media: In France, a rich, older entrepreneur from Paris is said to have died as a result of a Corona injection. Previously, he had taken out multi-million dollar life insurance policies for the benefit of his children and grandchildren, according to a media report.

Although vaccination is recognized as the cause of death by doctors and the insurance company, it has refused to pay out. The reason is because the side effects of the Corona jabs are known and published. They argue that the deceased took part in an experiment at his own risk. Covid-19 in itself is not classed as a “critical illness”.

According to the company, an experimental vaccination resulting in death is like suicide

The insurance company justified the refusal of payment to the family by stating that the use of experimental medication or treatments, including Corona injections, is expressly excluded from the insurance contract. The family’s subsequent lawsuit against the insurance company has been unsuccessful.

The court allegedly justified its ruling as follows: “The side effects of the experimental vaccine are published and the deceased could not claim to have known nothing about it when he voluntarily took the vaccine. There is no law or mandate in France that compelled him to be vaccinated. Hence his death is essentially suicide.” Since suicide is not covered by the policy from the outset, the insurance refuses to budge.

Scandalous verdict: taking a fatal risk is legally suicide

“The court recognizes the classification of the insurer who, in view of the announced side effects, including death, legally regards participation in the phase three experiment, whose proven harmlessness is not given, as voluntarily taking a fatal risk that is not covered by the contract and legally recognized as suicide. The family has appealed. However, the insurer’s defense is recognized as well-founded and contractually justified, as this publicly known fatal risk is legally considered suicide, since the customer has been notified and has agreed to voluntarily take the risk of death without being obliged or compelled to do so.”

No surprise: Mainstream media is silent

This case has not yet been reported in France 's mainstream media. The case was published by the family's lawyer, Carlo Alberto Brusa, on social media. Unfortunately, no sources or court records are given, which is why the authenticity of the report cannot currently be verified although there have been other warnings regarding the risk associated with the jabs recognized by insurers. In the US, the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI) has denied reports of non-payment.

Censorship

In recent months, many French anti-vaccine groups of the social network Facebook have been victims of sudden, unjustified closures, especially support groups for Brusa and Professor Didier Raoult. The latter has often been criticized for his positions on vaccines, hydroxychloroquine and his criticism of the mismanagement of the epidemic by the Macron government.

At the end of last year, the main support group for Didier Raoult was deactivated before it was reactivated, thanks to a mobilization on social networks and a massive relay on alternative media. On November 27, a teacher support group for Brusa was suspended. With no less than 310 000 members to its credit, the group created in March 2020 was closed for having shared the complaint by Brusa concerning the wearing of masks for children. The Parisian lawyer and his association Réaction-19 was accused of spreading a “conspiracy”.

Global difficulties for insurers due to vaccines

Actuaries have been warning that rising claims will be eroding the capital which insurers set aside to avoid insolvency. Notably, older people do not take out life insurance, which means that the claims have been from younger clients. Insurers say that they expect a rise in excess deaths.

According to Alex Berenson, the risk of injury or death from the jab is exceptionally high judging from Canadian data.

The refusal to pay for a vaccine-related death may not be surprising since globally the life insurance industry has been hit with reported claims of $5,5 billion in the first nine months of 2021 versus $3,5 billion for the whole of 2020, according to insurance broker Howden.

Dutch insurer Aegon, with two-thirds of its business in the US, said its American claims in the third quarter were $111 million, up from $31 million a year earlier.

Vaccine deaths may force insurers to raise premiums and some have indicated that they intend to punish the unvaccinated for their financial woes.

Ok, if taking the shot is suicide because the side effects are published, where were they published.

And now that the shot = death...everyone who helped hide that information committed murder, in this specific case, and Genocide against humanity.

anyone surprised???? of course they will not pay out - which is why the Big Pharma companies are not operating in countries with the policy that individuals can sue those companies for harm - THEY KNOW their poison is killing people - this is the plan it is a worldwide test going on til approx 2025 - a certain % are benign of these shots - some are super deadly (will kill virtually immediately) and some still toxic but will still allow the person to live with disability and ill health for awhile longer - thereby giving the pharma company customers for all their other drugs... insurance companies are all scams too - I am sure people did not realize just how evil our world is GOD's plan to reveal all - satan has control here

"Vaccine deaths may force insurers to raise premiums and some have indicated that they intend to punish the unvaccinated for their financial woes".

Can anyone else see the perverse logic in that statement ? The vaccine is killing people so we will punish the people who didn't take it and are not dying !!!!! Really ???

But why pay for insurance if they'll simply change the goalposts to suit their agenda and bottom line? That sort of "insurance" has no value.

2 ^ | v 1 • Reply • Share >

Markey Farrell → Scott Vines • 19 hours ago • edited

They did not "simply change the goalposts"... the contract is said to have the very clear and simple clause (very many of them do - I sold several types of Life Insurance for 20 years) that uses language like 'experimental', illegal (lack of law or mandate) drugs or remedies, and suicide clauses. THE insured tried to change the goalposts - NOT the insurance company. HE signed the contract voluntarily. HE took an experimental, non-approved medicine for treatment without even having the (COVID) sickness. It is Very standard language.

Once one claim is LEGALLY denied due to the 'experimental' nature of the vax, ALL the others can deny the claims based on the fact that the policy holder took the vax.

So,

If the policy holder takes the vax, then dies, the company will automatically DENY payout of the policy.

Then, the beneficiaries will have to go to court to PROVE the VAX DID NOT CAUSE THE DEATH in order to have the policy honored.

The CDC would have a vested interest in these cases. They would need to HELP PROVE the vax DID NOT CAUSE the death - OTHERWISE - the vax is UNSAFE besides being ineffective.

Oh what a tangled web we weave . . .

9 ^ | v • Reply • Share >

Obamanation → FED-UP with it all • 4 days ago

I don't disagree with anything you have stated, yet shouldn't the burden of proof be on the insurance companies proving suicide, and doesn't the deceased need to have, "knowingly" ended their own life in order to be considered suicide. Ignorance of danger does not constitute suicide. Would the insurance company have to pay out if the deceased died of head injury while riding a bicycle without a helmet? This court case could also be the coup De grace for the CDC.

3 ^ | v 1 • Reply • Share >

Prester Kahn → Obamanation • 2 days ago

You also have to take into account if the shot was "mandated". Apparently in this case there was no mandate - just a lot of societal pressure.

Kinda reminds me of the "dadism" - If all of your friends are jumping off a cliff, are you going to jump, too?

All good points no doubt.

Government(s) on the other hand operate out of complete different angle.

Tangled web they weave is insane with double talk, here-say and wishful thinking.

Take the vax along with all boosters current and future, wear a mask at all times and don't worry about the outcome.

Politicians go out of their way to push this, yet hold no accountability for its fall out.

Not just the insurance companies, I WANT ALL THE POLITICIANS HELD TO THEIR WORDS.

Every single one deserves life in prison at the least, they are killing people.

Voted into office in most cases and takes the helm as dictators, ENOUGH!

1 ^ | v • Reply • Share >

Markey Farrell → Obamanation • 19 hours ago

The insurance company would pay the bicyclist. The HELMET did not cause the death. The INJECTION DID. Cause and effect. The helmet could have, maybe prevented the death.. but that is not true of the experimental vaccine. IT CAUSED the death.

If you shoot yourself in the face you might or jump off a cliff you may live.. you cannot KNOW it would "knowingly" end your life.

The KNOWING part was published and available to the risk taker. It was UP TO HIM to know the side-effect, not the insurance company to cover his NOT KNOWING.

Utter nonsense. The odds of dying from Covid if you get it are about 1% and possibly higher than that by a couple points if you are old, obese, male and with several comorbidities and living in a retirement community. Your odds of surviving Covid, if you catch it are way better than Russian roulette. Even if you are playing Russian roulette and end up killing yourself, there would still be a question about whether you wanted to commit suicide or not. Reckless behavior does not equate to a suicide.

I practiced law for 35 years. I was an insurance defense counsel for 4 years and sued insurance companies for 31 years. I also had a life insurance license for a year or two.

I don't think this suicide defense will fly. It would set a horrible precedent. What is obviously going on is that insurance companies are facing huge amounts of liability they never expected. And so they are scared shite$$$. They may require a bailout from the government and I expected that to be a necessity very early on. They may face way more health insurance and worker's compensation liability than they do death benefits.

So you are just another want-a-be lawyer on the internet. Next time you think you can play lawyer on the internet, ask yourself whether you could pilot a 747.

If you bought the insurance 3 years ago, the insurance company does not know if you are vaccinated. why would they not take the premiums for their product that you willingly purchased? I still have not seen a policy application that asks specifically if you have had any covid injection.

You are just as bad at fake news as the clot-shot-pushers and needle-nazi junkies.

You people have no clue how insurance works - but you are quick to attack them. BY FAR, A HUGE BY FAR most policies pay out as expected and promised.

^ | v • Reply • Share >Heydrich • 5 days ago

Mass vaccination causes financial hardship for insurance companies. Therefore insurance companies want to punish the unvaxxed. Just another example of today's insanity.

Regarding the case noted above, with the insurance company that refuses to pay, we need to follow up on this to verify that it is true. If the family's lawyer, Carlo Alberto Brusa, revealed this on social media, then why were no sources or court records given? Strange.

Total disinformation which originated from Guggenheim-owned News Daily of New York --- Mertz character fictitious.

FYI: Eighteen hours after the assassination of President Kennedy in Dallas, an INS agent, Virgil Bailey, picked up Jean Rene Souetre from a Dallas jail, where he was being temporarily held for deportation. The INS agent was acting upon an expulsion order generated by the CIA [#632-796, "accidentally" released in 1977 with another FOIA'd document, dated 4/01/64]. (Souetre was a French assassin-for-hire, escaped federal prisoner and French Army (officer) deserter, also wanted for questioning in an assassination attempt on Charles DeGaulle.)

Who didn't see this coming a mile away? I don't understand the LI company's logic though: punish the jab victims by denying their claims, then punish the non-jabbed, (who are a lesser liability) by raising their premiums. Why don't they go to the gov like other monopolies do and demand a bailout in return for their silence and then resume payouts to the "suicide" victims"?

4 ^ | v • Reply • Share >Markey Farrell → Loosethedogs • 19 hours ago

It is doubtful the insurance companies will "punish the non-jabbed". Their actuaries will show the cost of the vaccine related deaths versus the vax-free death rates.

Insurance companies are HIGHLY competitive. They WILL go the the numbers to determine premiums... and the consumer has a TON of options to chose from and competitors to seek policies.

IHMO that is a ruse created by the NYTIMES (the cnn of newspapers) to scare the vax-free.

Well, it figures that an insurance company, in order to justify a refusal to pay out, would actually stoop to telling the truth.

And it is the truth that covid 19 was not dangerous and that the vaxx was an experiment.

It seems to me the only way around this verdict, which seems to be correct according to the letter of the law is how could it be expected that the populace would know of th side affects of the vaxx when gocts are suppressing everything they can to push thevaxx.

I am not denying the verdict is monstrous, but it appears to be the letter of the law correct.

and there is the brutal irony: an insurance company telling the truth for once to justify refusing apayout

I would hope this could go to the Supremes though personally don't trust them as proven they are a Democrat/RINO machine on most subjects of importance, and should think ALL of us could sue the insurance companies as a last resort for ALL investments which would completely make them crash (no doubting they have re-invested and made considerably more on our dime-or so I think assumingly)

This would possibly coincide with the recently reported illegals being allowed in even while refusing to be vaxxed...Obvious to myself that the rumor of wiping out the white race in America could actually become a reality...Bizarre in that those at the top pulling most of the strings are white themselves...totally messed up world!!

I first came across this report on a site that had this in the title.

« en-france-deces-apres-la-vaccination-dun-grand-pere-tres-fortune-ancien-chef-dentreprise-parisien-de-versailles-avec-ASSURANCE-VIE-de-plusieurs-millions-deuro-pour-le-benefice-de-ses-enfants »

I tried to find out more details, but it went into a circles with "Anne" always at the centre.

I think that some of the comments on ns217 site are where people are confused between Assurance Santé (a health assurance) and Assurance Vie (an unfortunately named savings account). This report concerns the latter.

With Assurance Vie, (the savings account) as I understand it, when one has reached 70 years there are special rules when one can, on death, leave some of the savings to grandchildren. I presume the exact situation for this Grandfather were specified when he took out the savings account (i.e. Assurance Vie); different Banks have different rules. Since it is a Savings Account, I cannot see how the grandfather was stopped from giving his own money (subject to the French State rules on inheritance) to his grandchildren.

If it was an ordinary Life Insurance, then things are different

I hope that this helps to clarify things

The appeal of Luc Montagnier: ‘Let’s stop mass vaccination immediately’

Milan It was perhaps the most important Saturday of demonstrations since the protests began throughout Europe. During a huge event organized by the political opposition in Italy, the squares in Rome and Milan were filled to maximum capacity.

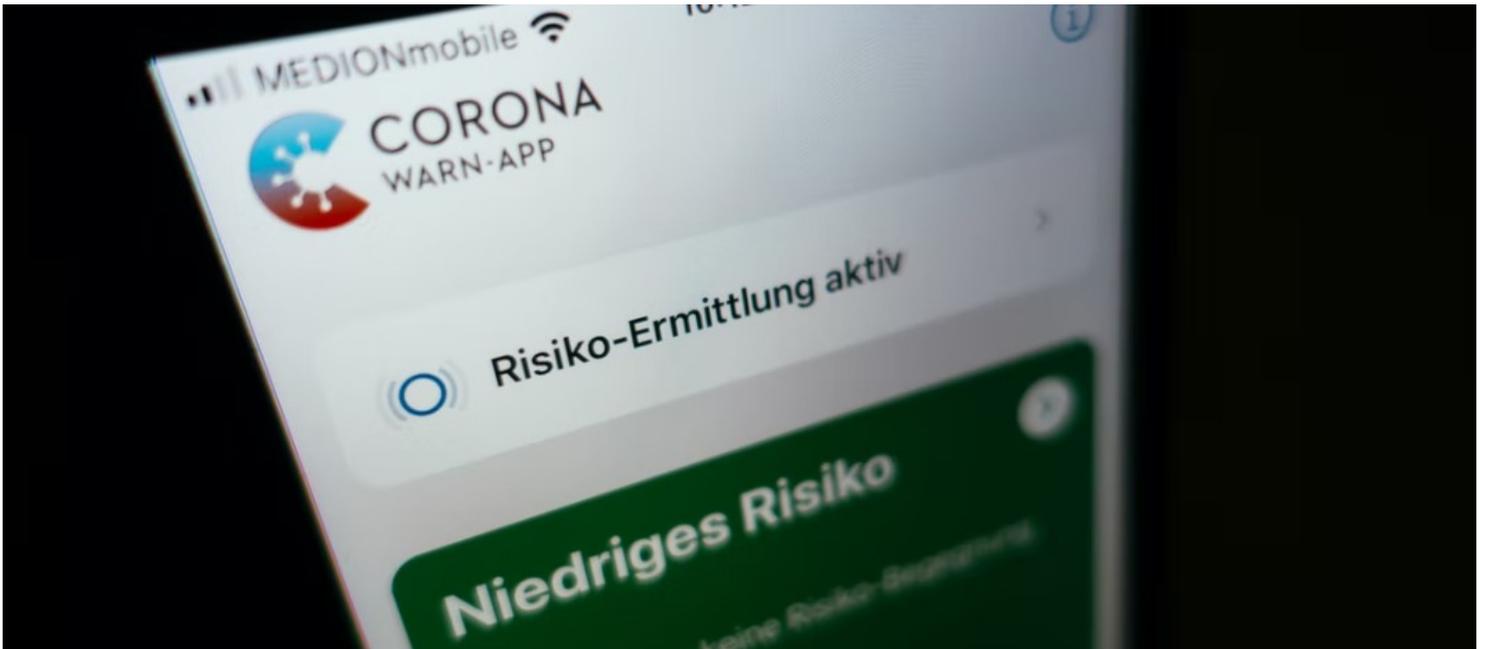

German secret service brand Corona critics ‘enemies of the state’

Berlin According to the President of the Federal Office for the Protection of the Constitution, which is the domestic spy agency, demonstrators in the Corona protests can no longer be clearly assigned to right-wing or left-wing extremism since they all "fundamentally reject the democratic state". The pandemic is only an excuse for rising up against the state, it claimed.

Spain's secret service alleged to have carried out Barcelona terror attacks

Madrid The terrorist attacks in Barcelona and Cambrils in August 2017 were planned and executed by the country's secret service, a former senior officer in Spain's National Police Corps maintain.

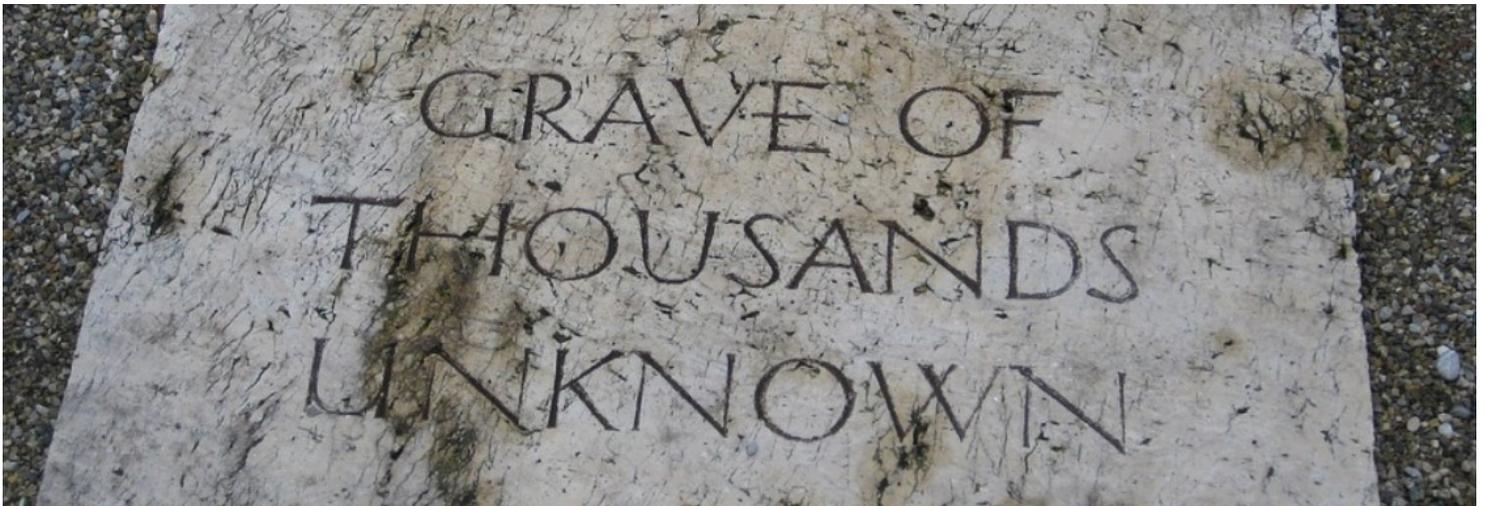

Compulsory vaccination postponed in Austria and Germany due to 'technical problems'

Vienna In February and March, respectively, both Germany and Austria would have introduced compulsory vaccination against Covid-19, something that has met with massive protests. In step with the growing resistance among the populations in both countries, signals from leading politicians are now coming that what is called the "vaccination obligation" will not be introduced in February and March. Technical problems and unsustainable time planning are said to be reasons for the coercive measures being postponed.

Germany: New record set for Monday walks against forced vaccination

Leipzig With 1 568 walks and demonstrations, more places in Germany took part in the Monday demonstrations than ever before. A week ago it was around 1500. And particularly noteworthy: More and more people who have been vaccinated are mingling with the critics of the measure.

New Year's Gift from the Spanish Government: The National Security Act

Madrid The Spanish government has given the people a New Year's present that could hardly be more totalitarian: On December 31, 2021, the socialist Prime Minister Pedro Sánchez and his colleagues published the Royal Decree (1150/2021) on the National Security Strategy. It has been in force since January 1, 2022.

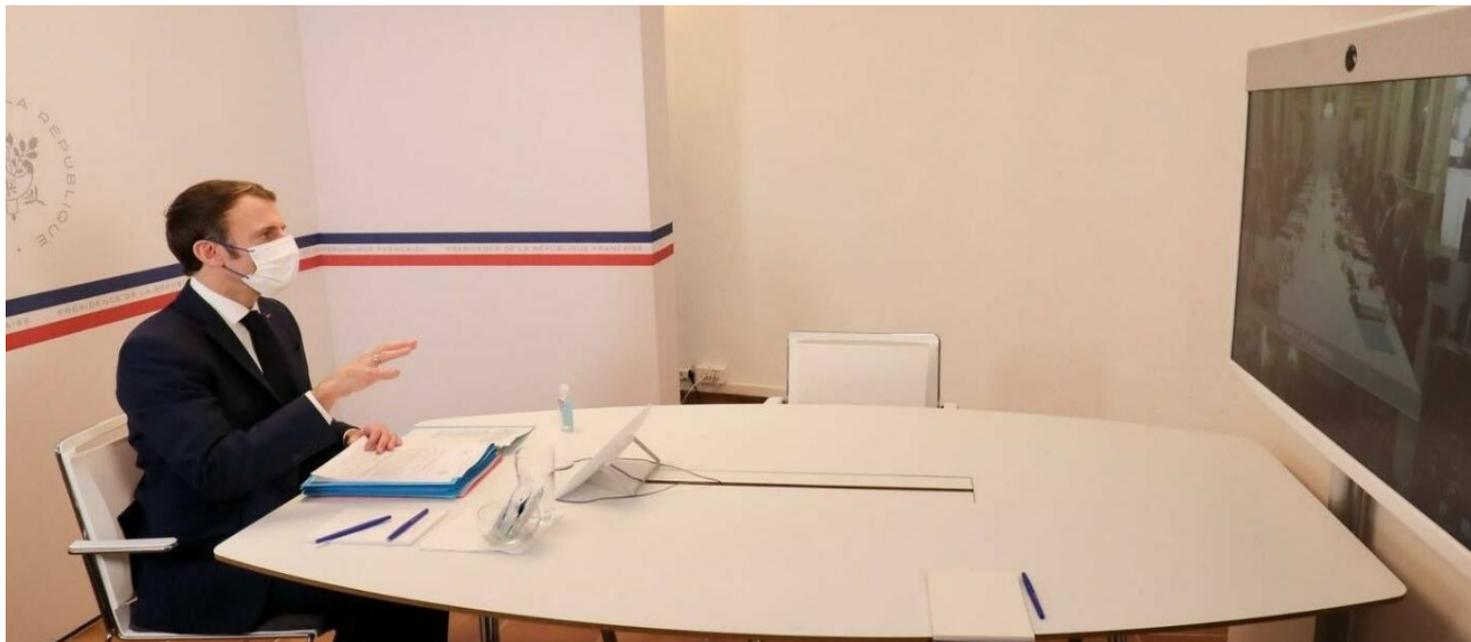

Germany's priorities are a Queer Commissioner and female crash test dummies

Berlin How did Germany manage to exist for more than 70 years without a queer commissioner? Many may be forgiven for not having pondered this question, especially during a pandemic which has decimated the civil rights of a third of the population.

Austria demotes some 3,8 million double-jabbed to ‘unvaccinated’

Vienna The Austrian government announced today that the validity of the “Green Passport” has been reduced to six months. This also means that all people who have had their “full vaccination” for the last six months will be relegated to an inferior civil status and become “unvaccinated”.

Macron lobbs a grenade at the French, which social media explodes in his face
