Health practitioners across the United States were revoked of their medical licenses and were even criminally charged for warning about the adverse effects of COVID vaccines.

Big tech joined forces with fact-checkers and mainstream media to ostracize the non-compliant and purge Americans off their social media platforms for daring to expose the dangers of “safe and effective” mRNA technology.

Many toed the line out of fear of reprisal, to keep their jobs, travel, enter indoor venues, go to school and return to normalcy.

The jabs do not protect against the transmission of COVID and have killed more people than any vaccine in history.

Now that most Americans purportedly complied with vaccine mandates, the corporate media is slowly starting to report on the fact that vaccinated and boosted people appear to be catching COVID at higher rates than those who have refrained from getting the shot.

Recent data from the CDC shows boosted Americans are catching COVID-19 higher rates than those who have not been boosted - although the boosters help protect against hospitalizations and deaths.

According to the newly published survey conducted by the Control Group Cooperative, unvaccinated people were more likely to self-care to manage COVID-19 and use Ivermectin and Hydroxychloroquine, vitamins C, vitamin D and Zinc to fend off the infection and, consequently, reported fewer hospitalizations.

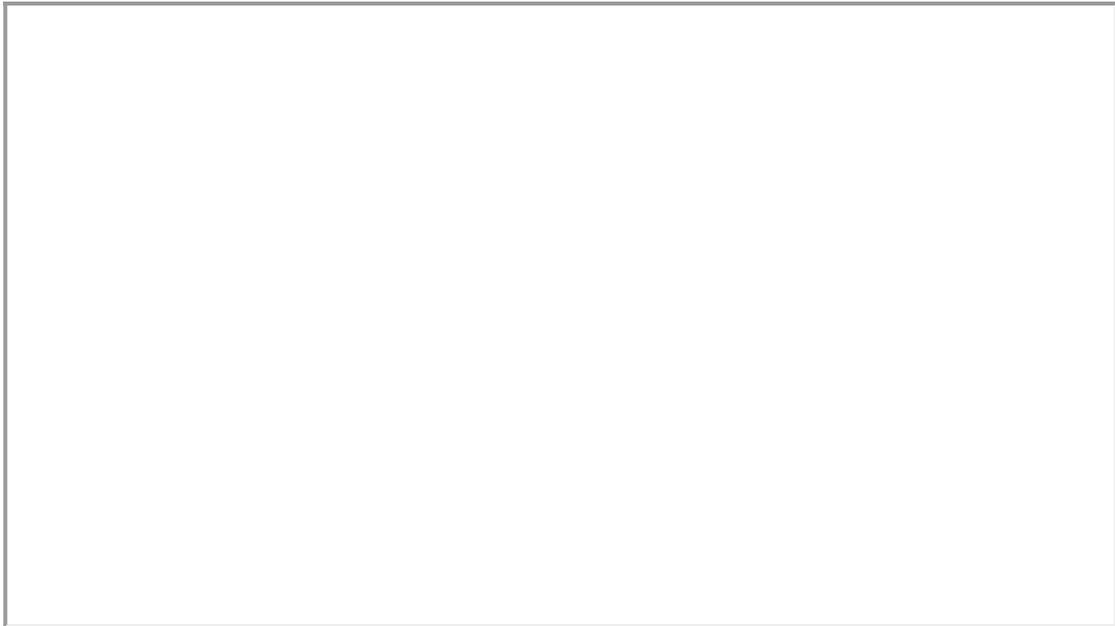

Respondents also reported struggling with mental health after experiencing discrimination for refusing “genetic vaccines” in a predominantly vaccinated society. They also expressed distrust in government information and the potential long-term adverse effects of mRNA technology.

Female participants claimed to have suffered from abnormal menstrual bleeding following the administration of COVID vaccines, despite being unvaccinated. They attributed the bleeding abnormalities to spike protein shedding.

Those who refused to wear masks reported the lowest levels of COVID-19 infection.

The data was gathered over a five-month period from September 2021 through February 2022 and analyzed by an independent team led by Dr. Robert Verkerk, executive and scientific director of the Alliance for Natural Health International.
