There's a remarkable concession appearing in The Washington Post today:

“a majority of Americans dying from the coronavirus received at least the primary series of the vaccine.”

The latest data shows that 58% of COVID-19 deaths in August 2022 were from people who were vaccinated or boosted. Based on past figures and the current trends, we can reasonably estimate that the number of vaccinated/boosted COVID-19 deaths will only rise. (In September 2021, the vaccinated accounted for 23% of COVID-19 deaths; in January/February 2022, the vaccinated were 42%.)

This is what happens when you rush ineffective and dangerous vaccines.

The FDA's promises of efficacy – 91% for the Pfizer vaccine and 93% for the Moderna vaccine – were always based on hope, not data. So too were the promises of safety. At the time of the official approvals, both Pfizer and Moderna hadn't submitted any type of long-term numbers on effectiveness. Their trials were polluted with the unblinding of participants and their safety studies are "ongoing."

Now, we're seeing efficacy numbers plummet within months of vaccination. The

Even with these numbers, the outgoing Anthony Fauci continues to vouch for the jab, stating the data "overwhelmingly show the effectiveness of vaccines."

Maybe we'll get the truth once Republicans take power. Fauci has promised cooperation but be assured he'll continue to be the slippery little doctor. Then there's the lawsuit against the Biden Administration where Fauci is being deposed today. It's a bit more difficult to evade questions from seasoned attorneys who have you for eight hours.

In any event, tomorrow at the dinner table, as you contemplate your blessings and eye the turkey, give an especially heartfelt thanks that this little megalomaniac will no
