Election-Fraud Corruption Is Deeper than Anyone Can Imagine

By Jack Gleason

Multiple polls conclude that upwards of 70 percent of Americans think our elections are filled with fraud. But we're learning it's deeper and more organized than just a few thousand mules dropping fake ballots into election boxes.

The corruption involves both political parties. Big Tech manipulates search engine results, and takes down "dangerous" websites. With Elon Musk's revelations, we now see that our own FBI is working actively with Twitter to censor conservatives and silence dissenting speech. It's next to certain that Twitter wasn't the only social media giant the FBI was giving orders to. And the mainstream media are all in on ridiculing, dismissing, or attacking people willing to speak out.

Anyone who floats the idea that the Republican red wave disappeared because of poor GOP tactics, or inadequate candidates, is either stupid or part of this conspiracy. In fact, it's an excellent "RINO detector"!

Any "conservative" news organization that is not focusing 100 percent on the corruption that has been unearthed in Maricopa County is complicit.

The left and their RINO allies, along with who-knows-how-many other corporate and foreign actors, have set up the most complicated electoral fraud system in history. Every step of the voting process — from who is allowed to vote, how they vote, how the votes are tallied, to how the results are reported — is compromised. They are so far into their corruption that being exposed is not an option. They will do literally anything to avoid being caught.

A good place to start is with the voter rolls.

They are so rife with inaccuracies, full of outdated and blatantly false information, that no election can be considered safe. The data are completely unsecured and can be manipulated at will. And most efforts to clean up the rolls are either ignored or done so slowly or incompletely as to be useless.

One county in Arizona noted "42,000 changes to the election rolls within weeks of the election — most were illegal. 21,000 new voters added to the election rolls, within 29 days of the election — almost every one is illegal. 8,000 voters appear to live in a business — each one would be illegal. 1,951 people received ballots at one address, and then voted from a different address — every one is illegal. The Republican candidate — with an 11-point lead in the polls — lost by around 21,000 votes to a woman who was afraid to debate her!"

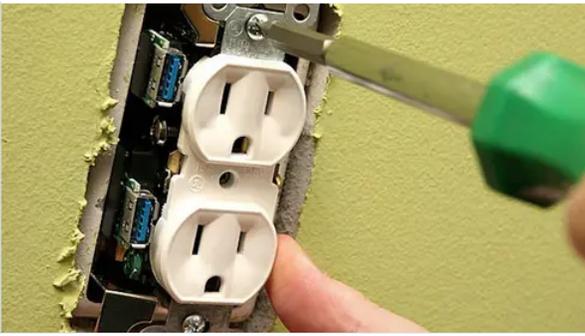

Absentee ballots are the currency of election fraud.

When you can manipulate the voting rolls, you can easily create "floating ballots" in states where absentee ballots are mailed out to every voter. Just change a digit in the ZIP code, and a corrupt postal worker can easily gather up those ballots when they return as undeliverable. All you have to do is line up a buddy at the Post Office and send incorrectly addressed ballots to his ZIP code.

LEARN MORE >

Another method is to change or delete box numbers for apartment buildings or college campuses. Again, when they come back as undeliverable, they can be snapped up to be saved up for Election Day. If it looks as though your candidate is losing by 2,000 votes, just fill in 2,500, and voilà: victory!

The addresses in the voter rolls need only be changed for a single day, so the ballots can go to the wrong addresses, and the data are changed back. "In a real-life example, this month, we found a county that changed 31,500 zip codes, yet the voter remained at the same address."

There's no way to know this is happening unless someone happens to download the manipulated data at the right time. An almost undetectable crime.

Another type of phantom voter is someone on the rolls who hasn't voted in the last two or three elections. Send an absentee ballot for him at a wrong address, and vote for him. Heard cases where in-person voters are told on Election Day that they've already voted? Their absentee ballot was filled out by someone else first.

More detail can be found at "How to steal an election."

The vote-counting process is completely insecure.

There's a great video from 2020 with over a million views, focusing on Michigan vote-tabulating procedures, which are similar in most of the rest of the country. Dr. Shiva Ayyadurai, MIT Ph.D., explains the issues affecting voting system accuracy and exposes a "Weighted Race Feature" in the actual user manual for "Global Election Systems" software that allows system operators to change votes by any percentage for any candidate.

This "feature" is present in almost all voting systems and is seen as early as 2001.

In one case, Ayyadurai's team analyzed early voting and Election Day voting in four counties in the 2020 Michigan election. They concluded that in three major counties, Trump's votes were decreased by at least 69,000, and Biden's votes were increased by 69,000, using a computer algorithm within the voting machine software.

At the 21:00 mark, they explain how it happened. In Michigan, you can vote by selecting individual candidates or simply choose to vote for one political party or the other. Obviously, a precinct with a lot of Republican-party-line voters would also have a lot of Republicans chosen by the vote-in-each-contest voters. But somehow, 2020 data showed that the more Republican-leaning the precinct, the more votes were different from the one-party voters vs. the individual voters — always in favor of Biden! This demonstrates likely use of the weighted race feature, which was absent in a predominantly Democrat county.

Even more damning is that when the data are charted, the line is perfectly straight, and the slope of the line in each county is very similar to the others. This could not happen without a mathematical formula being applied to the actual number of votes.

So what can be done? Looking up individual entries on voter rolls, comparing them to local property records for non-existing addresses, and submitting changes to the local Boards of Elections would take hundreds of years.

Fractal computing to the rescue.

Now fraud-savvy groups are analyzing voter rolls and using "fractal computing" to compare them to other data — county property records that show the type of building at each address so a voter can't register if his address is a vacant lot or a convenience store, post office databases that show who has moved out of state, or a deceased voter who is listed as alive, then votes, then goes back to being deceased the next day. What if a single house with one bathroom has 35 people listed as living there?

"One team in Wisconsin challenged almost 400,000 alleged phantoms. A Georgia team, in one county, 37,000."

The one thing in common among the candidates victimized by this level of fraud is not that they are Republicans, but that they are MAGA conservatives. It's clear that both parties use these tactics to favor Democrats and RINOs.

We need voter ID and permanent voter registration cards, publically viewable software, hand-marked paper ballots, and all data to be kept for public viewing.

If we expect the RINOs to actively work to end election fraud, we are just plain stupid. We must insist on new leadership for the RNC, support opposition to Kevin McCarthy as speaker of the House, and hope that turtle McConnell is ousted as the Senate minority leader. And do everything we can to support Kari Lake in her lawsuit to overturn the Arizona gubernatorial election.

Ha, ha - it's too late!

2020 was the moment to make a stand and the Republicans didn't even show up for battle. The biggest crime ever (piled atop a mound of previous crimes committed over a 4 year period) resulted in 0 action from the Republican Party. And what's happening to Lake will succeed, only because - yet again - Republicans will do nothing. The Washington Uniparty runs all, with The Chamber of Commerce and Big Tech as the puppet masters. Elections are now a cute ritual to pretend there's a choice. There's a reason Joe Biden and Katie Hobbs didn't bother to be involved in their respective campaigns. They didn't need to take part! All they had to do was sit quietly and let the fixed system do it's work. But by all means, let the Republicans "keep their powder dry" for the next round, as they always do. In the meantime, their party will wither and die as millions of Trump MAGA voters walk away from them for good.

The answer is to not wait on the hapless Republicans to take action, but to take action ourselves. Elected officials are not our leaders, who we wait to save us, but our representatives. They are not immune to pressure from the American people. The same American people who at the moment seem more interested in spending time on mindless entertainment than exercising the responsibilities that come with freedom.

It's going to take a real long time.. maybe decades to restore election integrity.... It must happen on the local level and these corrupt state legislatures need to be voted out and then election laws can be reviewed and corrected. Things like mail in voting, early voting, signature varification, voter ID all need to be corrected.... Lastly the Republican party needs to be purged of Rhinos and Anti Trumpers... The republican party must be MAGA and nothing else... This will also take a very long time.... We will loose a lot of election while purging the party but, it is a must...

 may have misinterpreted this, "and the Republicans didn't even show up for battle." All the Republicans I know showed up and voted. I think lots of blacks and hispanics so did in bigger numbers than usual. But you must have been referring to the RNC, with Mitt Romney's niece as head. She certainly did nothing to help the cause. I still can't believe Trump let her have the top position in the GOP after he won in 2016..

It turns out Nasty PeINazi and her Leftist sociopaths were correct: the US does need a thorough overhaul of national elections at the Federal level. BUT: just not the Communist Corruptopia she envisioned. Instead, all states must adhere to:

1. No ballot or application mass mailouts.
2. No same-day registration (30 day minimum).
3. Photographic voter ID.
4. Single-day voting.
5. Paper ballots only.
6. No harvesting, no un-attended drop-boxes.
7. Serious prison terms for violators.

Who am I kidding? As if a single RINOcrat would vote for any of this.

As you know, the Founders assumed that the federal government would become corrupt, so they created many checks and balances in the processes required to impose requirements on the American people. Most of that is ignored today since each branch and both political parties seem to be hopelessly corrupt.

So we can't trust the federal government to create just election laws, and as you say, they would never vote for any of your excellent points. They simply cannot be trusted; they serve themselves rather than represent the people. Many states are corrupt, so neither can they be trusted to hold fair and just elections.

We are faced with quite a dilemma. Perhaps trying to clean up the states that want to have fair elections, using the tools referenced in the article would be a first step. That might prevent the Dimms from manipulating the votes in the Red states and eventually turning them Blue.

The country has now been taken over in a hostile coup by a cabal of both parties leaders and the American republic is dead. There may be an election in 2024, like the USSR and Cuba had "elections" but the outcome is already known. The Democrat will win. Or, a Republican who is "controlled" by the same people who control the Democrats. The winner will not be the person voted for by a real majority of American citizens who voted. The entire American political system is corrupt and amazingly, it is now in the process of killing Americans via a bioweapon administered at the behest of federal "health" (sic) officials by all American hospitals and pharmacies. Americans are dying in record numbers and the rate will accelerate as the diseases pile up. And nobody even care about this, so I don't think stolen elections are going to matter, as long as the NBA and NFL and MLB deliver the games.

As I stated right after 2020. Republicans, in general, allowing the fraud of the election to go unchallenged, the GOP will never compete in any election again. Sure, in a pure red district they might win, but anything close to purple will be magically changed towards a Democrat win. There are several fronts in this battle. An easily brainwashed populace, a corrupt bureaucracy, a media wholly owned by the Democrats, and at the top of this tragic iceberg - a judiciary that is either leftist, corrupt, afraid of being doxxed or canceled, and obviously not interested in upholding their oath to the Constitution.

I wish I had an answer for this problem but I don't. I do have thoughts that might help in the long run. Term limits for all Congressmen and a national standard of a photo ID for all voters. I never thought any federal involvement in state voting was a good idea until states that are Democrat controlled became one party states that no longer were fair. CA is one that has approved many things that make cheating a given and other states have done the same. End all mail-in ballots. Only absentee ballots and to a some the same. And all that in ballot. Only absentee ballots and to a verifiable address. Make all voter rolls public and available for state or federal inspections at any time with criminal prosecution possible. Paper ballots only and by-party observers at all polls with TOTAL access. These are just some things that can be done but all require action by Congress. That seems to be the biggest issue. The answer to that issue is term limits.

Nice detail and a wonderful article about what is happening in our elections. There are a few things you left out, but you can't cover everything.

I have been working the polls first in Florida and then in California for many, many elections. I first saw it happening on a widespread basis in 2018 and tried doing something about it. I filed a formal complaint with the county election office and also the Secretary of State. Not surprisingly, I never received a reply. I tried contacting the State GOP office and the RNC, They were not interested. It seems Republican attorneys weren't interested in getting involved unless they could personally benefit. (Capitalism at its finest. Perhaps some of that has changed). Democrats have no problem finding hundreds of bright attorneys willing to offer their services pro bono or perhaps they had sugar daddies underwriting their efforts. I then began working with two organizations. one in California and one national, that did considerable work on election fraud. Many of the issues you discuss in your post were a part of their litigation including getting voter roles purged in several cities and states. But in the end they were overwhelmed by the opposition.

The 2020 election proved just how much the Democrats had been able to up their game. By 2022, their ability to control elections was quite astonishing.

You may have noticed that the only issue being discussed by the media in Kari Lake's election fraud claims was the day of election vote counting problems which were in fact resolved during the day. So it was quite a surprise to see that there were many more important issue included in her lawsuit. What the media was discussing could never overturn the election. That is why they focused all their attention on that single issue. A couple of issues we discovered back in 2018 that I am happy to see that Kari Lake also included in her lawsuit were "chain of command" and special vote counting procedures called "provisional ballots". I personally observed them being used in California's fraudulent elections in 2018.

Whether the judge in the case will be willing do something that very few judges have been willing to do, throw out election results is doubtful, but here is hoping. I would like to take one exception to your recommendations, perhaps because I am from California and have lived in a state where Democrats control just about everything. I do not believe trying to oust Kevin McCarthy as Speaker would be helpful. Keeping pressure on him is the right thing to do, but we need to work with Republicans who do have

With this knowledge of massive voting fraud it is essential that thinking Americans understand and conclude that our "elected" representatives are no longer such. American "civil servants" now must operate under a chosen club of overlords, selected by the cabal (not the people) according to need and appearance. All now in power who knowingly cheated (or looked the other way) are anarchists. All who assisted the cheats are anarchists. All who knowingly purged conservative thinkers in hiring and promotion decisions are guilty of corruption. This is indeed a revolution of evil. And America must now be considered nothing better than an unredeemable banana republic (with nukes). Never thought I'd see this in my lifetime. And we can directly tie this destruction of America to the turning away from God. My comfort in all this is that Christians know this is all foretold.

Even more damning is this fraudulent activity is manipulated from the Secretary of State offices according to Frank.

Elections Have Consequences

In November 2020 Joe Biden won the game and possibly the tournament. His supporters deserve the spoils of war, for that is exactly what it was. A war of words. Words that had very little truth behind them, but were consistently presented to the American public. Convincingly enough that at least half the electorate believed them. A war of words that were stifled. Google executives were correct when on video they declared that they, Google, would not let 2016 happen again. The rest of the tech giants fell inline and took the ball to the hoop. In a recent poll, approximately 30% of Democratic voters stated they would not have voted for Biden if they had known about Hunter Biden's laptop and corruption. The release of the Twitter documents by Elon Musk has provided strong evidence that election interference occurred with the assistance and coordination of our federal agencies. Today in 2022, the walls constructed by big tech and the media to hide the truth now have holes in them allowing the light of truth to shine to hide the truth now have notes in them allowing the light of truth to shine through. Unfortunately, some Americans still close their eyes and minds and refuse to look.

For the rest of us, America is truly being torn apart at the seams. The very fabric of who we are as a Country is at risk of changing forever. We have never been so divided since the Civil War. When strife spills onto American streets, will the destruction of free America be worth the riches gained by the elite of both political parties.

In 2020, President Trump was not the one counting ballots after election day without transparency. He was not the one blocking poll watchers from Democratic precincts. Oh, I know that the media claimed there where watchers present. Can you really read a signature from 30 feet? Republicans were not the ones sitting at tables counting the ballots that were going to put their own candidate in The Oval Office. The precincts that determined the outcome in the middle of the night were not Republican. Every "mistake" favored Joe and was only corrected after being discovered. How many illegal ballots were added to the legal ballots after November 3rd? President Trump said he wanted to stop the count. His stated position was to stop the process until both parties could be at the table. The Democrats and the media claimed he wanted to stop the vote. But yet we are suppose trust the Democrats to be the arbiters of truth. Before you claim that President Trump lost every court case, note that no evidence was heard in court. All losses were based on procedural claims such as timing and lack of standing.
