Danielle Smith, the current premier of Alberta in Canada, has done something remarkable. She took the bold and unprecedented step of apologizing to unvaccinated Canadians who’ve faced unfair treatment from the government throughout the “pandemic.” But Ms. Smith actually went beyond just issuing an apology, Danielle actually made a promise: anyone who was terminated from their job due to their refusal of the COVID-19 vaccine will be reinstated.

Wow. That’s not the type of humility you hear from politicians everyday, is it?

Comedian and conservative podcaster Jimmy Dore was actually blown away by this apology and covered it at length.

Canadian Politician APOLOGIZES To Unvaccinated ...

This apology and promise from Ms. Smith sends a powerful message to globalist elites: you were all wrong, and everybody knows it. Thanks to her humility, Danielle Smith has set a new standard in political leadership. Her acknowledgement of the horrors faced by the unvaccinated and her willingness to take responsibility for the government's disgusting actions during the pandemic show she has the potential to be a good leader. However, the proof is in the pudding. The next time something like this happens — and you know it will — Danielle better be on the side of the people, not the government.

This is great! Now let's talk about Project 65. This is an organization of lawyers dedicated to denying legal counsel to Trump and his supporters. How is it legal for lawyers to deny civil rights to American citizens? It's run by Clinton aid Melissa Moss. She should be disbarred and the organization dissolved.

In 1991 , a federal judge ruled Bruce Cutler could not represent John Gotti and federal prosecutors were elated. John Gotti's last 3 trials resulted in not guilty verdicts . The feds could not allow a 4th loss. Marc Elias and Andrew Weissmann are examples of who should be disbarred Hillary's attorneys

The latest tactic of the feds is calling anyone who wants to take real action a "fed". This not only stops people from taking real action, but it starts a trend where anyone who talks about taking real action is labeled a fed.

So, maybe you are the fed. And maybe this person wants to take action instead of standing on the sidelines trusting the plan.

Similar to the feds that baited guys into the Whitmer kidnapping plot. Disqus is filled with feds. So are message boards, CFP you name it. Bidens DOJ is all over right wing websites.

You probably want the guy that cut you off in traffic executed as well. Your hysterical, shrill reply is either your being an emotional basket case or yet another feeble Fed attempt to identify "suspicious" people based on their responses to your call for violence. We know the playbook. We also know finding out who is behind any post is easy when you have complicit easy to frighten heads of social media willing to hand over anything to them without a warrant, just for the asking.

You are an A1, first-class pus*y. In your mind everyone is a fed because they make a rhetorical statement? How fearful you must be of the government. I wonder if the founding fathers were shaking in their boots like you are Easy, girl (I presume you are a girl because men don't get so emotional). I don't presume everyone is a fed. I make rhetorical statements occasionally. Unlike yourself, I am wary, not fearful, of "the government". Ever since Congress passed the Patriot Act a week or so after 9/11 there has been a steady eroding of our civil liberties, most notably in surveillance by the feds without a warrant or other safeguards. A quote from epic.org:

Although the Act expired in March, 2020 without being reauthorized, federal law enforcement agencies retain most of the authorities granted by the act. The surveillance infrastructure that the Patriot Act created exists to this day. The Patriot Act is a prominent example of the use of terrorism to justify expanding government surveillance.

Now, people like you no doubt love the false sense of security a blanket of surveillance and censorship affords you but normal freedom loving citizens are appalled by it. I suggest you stop being an A-1 pus*y and start questioning authority, starting with all the feds that were directly involved in prodding protestors to break into the Capitol during January 6th, 2021. We call it the Fedsurrection for a reason.

Me emotional? You just wrote a response in the form of a novel, Sally, and then called someone a fed for being rhetorical. That's emotional and girlie. You are a bit confused. All I'm saying is you are a chicken sh*t. Nothing emotional about the facts.

Thankfully people like you are fast becoming the minority.

People are starting to realize coexistence with leftists only leads to death or destitution.

Hence why secession has 40% support and growing.

If you love them so much though you are welcome to starve with them after since as a separate country we will be under no obligation to continue to supply them with power, food, fuel or water.

The "legal profession" may not have been around as long as the "oldest profession" but there does not seem to be much of a difference between them these days.

You're quite correct. My comment was an attempt to be a bit facetious, and no I don't think all lawyers lack integrity. Those who are defending President Trump have a very difficult task and they risk being shunned by many people including family members and lifelong friends.

I don't think all lawyers lack integrity, either. Only maybe 80 to 90 percent of them. The claim that even the KNOWN and admitted guilty deserve to be defended sets up a moral dichotomy that eventually erodes their system of justice values. When one's core moral values (like justice, for example) are continually over ridden, justification for corruption becomes their new normal. Like politics and the entertainment business, the justice system is not an industry you want your good kids to be involved in. YS, somebody has to do it... but a look right now at those three industries makes you want to 🤢🤮🤨.

It's the 65 project(I made the same mistake) and so far, they are only going after Pres. Trump's attorneys who helped him in the election fraud cases.

I haven't been able to find any current lawyers being targeted.

Re! This is great!

Now let's talk about who could stand in for Danielle Smith in America? Would Trump who unleashed warp speed and kept thumping his chest about his "beautiful vaccine", apologize to Americans who absentmindedly put their trust in him, got sick, disabled or are buried. Robert F Kennedy Jr who is running for President as a DEMOCRAT revealed in his interview with Joe Rogan that 15 MILLION Americans sought medical help after taking "vaccine"

Get over yourself ASSSHOLE! The people calling Trump out are criminals and a syndicate using cheap tactics to try and keep him from running. The FACT is that that ALL YOU DEMS HAVE is made up lies and projection of what the Democrats, Biden and Hunter have been doing all this time to go after Trump with. So you ignore the OBVIOUS Biden criminal activity but focus on the made up Trump stuff. What happened, Trump touched your pee pee and it made you sad he never touched it again?
