

RECOMMENDED

NEWS EXCLUSIVE

Groups behind Israel-bashing protests backing Hamas attacks got $15M-plus from Soros

By Rich Calder and Matthew Sedacca

Published Oct. 28, 2023, 2:01 p.m. ET

We've updated our Terms of Use, including handling of legal claims. By continuing, you agree to the updated Terms and our

Privacy Notice

George Soros' Open Society Foundations has funneled over $16.3 million in grants since 2016 to groups recent pro-Palestine protests.

AFP via Getty Images

MORE ON:

GEORGE SOROS

Paul Pelosi hammer attacker David DePape launched assault because of conspiracy beliefs: defense

Musk says George Soros 'fundamentally hates humanity,' erodes 'fabric of civilization'

George Soros once slammed US, Israel for not working with Hamas

Soros-backed, woke Philly DA suddenly cares about crime — once it hits Instagram

Far-left billionaire kingmaker George Soros has funneled more than $15 million since 2016 to groups behind this month's pro-Palestine protests, where demonstrators openly cheered Hamas militants' craven terrorist attacks on Israel.

A Post examination of Open Society Foundation's records shows Soros' grant-making network gave $13.7 million of the money through Tides Center, a deep-pocketed lefty advocacy group that sponsors several nonprofits who've justified Hamas' bloody attacks while claiming Palestinians obsessed with the eradication of the Jewish state are the real victims.

Tides' beneficiaries include Illinois-based Adalah Justice Project, which on the day of the Oct. 7 massacre posted a photo on Instagram of a bulldozer tearing part of Israel's border fence down and a caption: "Israeli colonizers believed they could indefinitely trap two million people in an open-air prison... no cage goes unchallenged."

Members of the Palestinian advocacy group occupied California Rep. Ro Khanna's office on Oct. 20 to demand he sign a resolution calling for ceasefire in Gaza. Adalah's members also co-sponsored a rally that same day in Bryant Park where hostile demonstrators spewed antisemitic chants and waved a sign that read "I DO NOT CONDEMN HAMAS."

Soros' Open Society Foundations has given $13.7 million to Tides Center, which sponsors several nonprofits who've justified Hamas' attacks.

AFP via Getty Images

It also gave $30,000 in 2020 to Desis Rising Up and Moving, another co-sponsor of the Bryant Park protest where 139 people were arrested, financial records show.

Open Society Foundations gave $60,000 in 2018 to the Arab American Association of New York, a group co-founded by politically connected activist Linda Sarsour that helped plan a hate-filled "Flood Brooklyn for Palestine" protest in Bay Ridge on Oct. 21, where protestors called for the eradication of Israel and held a sign of the Israeli flag in a trash basket that read "Please keep the world clean!"

Open Society Foundations also awarded $1.5 million to Adalah's founding nonprofit, Adalah – The Legal Center for Arab Minority Rights in Israel, but only $800,000 of it was received before the legal center cut ties with the American organization in 2018. The legal center says its mission is to promote human rights in Israel.

Many groups that received Soros grants sponsored an Oct. 20 protest in Manhattan, where demonstrators spewed antisemitic chants.

Jesus King/Shutterstock

Other Soros-backed, Palestinian advocacy groups whose members have been spewing hate at rallies since the massacre include Jewish Voice for Peace and If Not Now, which received $650,000 and $400,000, respectively.

Both co-sponsored the Bryant Park rally, and its members were among the protestors who converged on the US Capitol complex Oct. 18.

Jewish Voice for Peace also helped occupy Khanna's office and has blamed Israel for the Oct. 7 attacks, writing on its website: "Israeli apartheid and occupation — and United States complicity in that oppression — are the source of all this violence."

OSF gave $60,000 in 2018 to a group co-founded by activist Linda Sarsour, which helped plan a hate-filled protest in Bay Ridge.

MediaNews Group via Getty Images

Dan Schneider, vice president of the conservative watchdog group Media Research Center, said Soros — a Hungarian-born Jew and a Holocaust survivor whose loyal lieutenants have scored unmatched access to President Biden's White House — has a long history of standing against Israel and backing groups who champion terrorists.

“George Soros and his son Alex have a long history of supporting the most radical organizations across the planet, and that includes pro-Hamas organizations that support the most heinous kind of behavior,” said Schneider, who recently co-authored a letter with MRC Founder and President Brent Bozell demanding Soros cease funding to groups who’ve recently spewed pro-Hamas rhetoric.

“We’ve called on George Soros to withdraw this funding, but he seems very determined to continue supporting antisemitic organizations that want to upend western civilization,” he said.

4

Protesters at the “Flood Brooklyn for Palestine” protestors called for the eradication of Israel.

Former City Councilman David Greenfield, a Brooklyn Democrat who now heads the Metropolitan Council on Jewish Poverty, said “the world has changed” since the Oct. 7 massacre, so Soros’ group must decide if it will be on “the side that is going to liberate Palestinians or on the side that wants to eliminate Jews.”

Open Society Foundations and related nonprofits the 93-year-old Soros founded have doled out more than $32 billion worldwide since 1984, according to its website. In June, the progressive billionaire announced he’s handing control of his empire over to his 38-year-old son Alexander.

What do you think? Be the first to comment.

Ari Remez, a spokesman for Adalah – The Legal Center for Arab Minority Rights in Israel, said Open Society Foundations “has been generously supporting our work on defending the human rights of Palestinians under Israeli control for many years, and we are grateful for their immense contribution to this effort.”

The Soros family, Open Society Foundations, Tides, Adalah Justice Project and other pro-Palestinian groups that got Soros funding did not return messages.

READ NEXT Russian military suffered at least 4,000 casualties in bat...

MORE STORIES

PAGE SIX

Gen Z has cancelled leggings — here's what they say to wear instead

NEW YORK POST

Your California Privacy Rights

