What the heck happened to Speaker Mike Johnson? When he first emerged as the speaker after McCarthy was ousted, he was hailed as a “MAGA” hero. Many thought we finally had someone at the helm who truly had our best interests at heart. Boy, were we wrong.

In a shockingly short period of time, Speaker Johnson went from a MAGA hopeful to a Deep State stooge. This drastic change has many people asking: Was he always a snake in the grass, or did they manage to blackmail him into becoming their dutiful little puppet? Well, it’s likely a very complex issue with many layers, but one thing seems clear: Speaker Johnson likely fell victim to a very coordinated CIA plot. This strategy is often used against our government officials to ensure they toe the line with the uni-party regime. The more we uncover and discuss, the more we realize just how deep these tactics go into manipulating our leaders. The good news is that this topic is gaining traction, with influential voices like conservative cartoonist legend Scott Adams chiming in. We appreciate how Scott Adams has brilliantly managed to break down what the CIA is doing into simple layman’s terms. It’s refreshing and enlightening to have such complex issues made accessible and understandable for everyone quickly. Scott took to X and, in just about five sentences, he summed up decades of CIA covert operations against our lawmakers and the American people.

Scott Adams:

If I correctly understand our system of government, when a president or leader in the Congress gets into office, someone in the CIA pulls them aside for “the talk” and completely changes their priorities.

The public is then told the leaders now have secret knowledge the public can never know.

But the leader has no way of knowing the “secret” information is true and in context.

That puts the secret-keepers in firm control of the government’s big decisions. If the secret-keepers agree with a government policy, they stay out of it. If they disagree with a policy, they say the UFOs will attack — or some other unverifiable thing — and by the way, we have recordings of every phone call you ever made, and scare the leaders into compliance.

Right in front of us. None of this is secret.

Revolver helped to kickstart the discussion about "Congressional capture" after coming across a tweet from Edward Snowden. He described what's happening with Speaker Johnson as a "textbook case of Congressional capture." Since then, it's become a hot topic of conversation, and that's definitely a good thing. It's crucial we shine a light on these shadowy intel dealings and bring these covert manipulations against "we the people" into public view.

Edward Snowden

This is a textbook case of Congressional capture. With a single briefing, the intelligence agencies routinely transform their most strident critics into the tamest of cheerleaders.

Haley Talbot @haleytalbotcnn

Speaker Mike Johnson elaborates on his FISA flip flop from when he was a rank and file member of the House, explaining that after receiving classified briefings he has a "different perspective."

Obviously, there's a big change happening. Johnson entered the DC Swamp roaring like a MAGA lion and emerged whispering like an establishment RINO. The transformation is so obvious, it's impossible to miss. Here's Johnson alongside former Speaker and noted RINO turncoat Paul Ryan. Truly, a picture worth a million unthinkable words.

So, what exactly is "Congressional capture" that Snowden speaks of, and how does it work? Well, it's simple in theory but can be quite complex in practice, shaping itself around each politician.

In short, "Congressional capture" is when lawmakers or legislative bodies fall under the heavy influence of outside interests, like big corporations, special interest groups, or US intel. These influences ensure that their agendas take precedence over the public's needs. In simple terms, this means certain policies or laws that favor these groups are advanced, while criticism or resistance is quietly suppressed. Suddenly, their most ferocious critics become their biggest cheerleaders.

Recently, War Room's Steve Bannon also called out Johnson for how quickly he got captured. It only took the Deep State three briefings to flip him over to their side.

Sadly, our government has established numerous layers and sources of control aimed at capturing our elected officials. This is what happens when the Deep State captures a Republican.

Mike Johnson once again passes a terrible bill with more Democrat votes than Republican votes. He's one of the most effective speakers Democrats have ever had. It's no wonder Joe Biden and Chuck Schumer love him.

But the situation goes even deeper than that. American citizens are also caught in their own sort of “capture” program, bombarded by massive amounts of regime-approved propaganda. The bottom line is that our government is diseased and beyond any “quick” fix.

It really makes you think, doesn't it?

The United States has morphed into exactly what our founding fathers tried so hard to protect us from.

It's the messaging that gets them killed. One thing I learned early is to never tell the enemy what you're going to do. Trump made the same mistake. Do it first & swiftly so they never see you coming. But, I'm old and no one under 60 ever listens to wisdom.

I'm 66, and agree. Never telegraph your intentions to your adversaries. Which makes me wonder if Johnson was a CIA op from the start - in other words, it was a planned coupe from the start to outsmart the freedom caucus
The nonchalant, unrepentant attitude from Johnson has a suspiciously familiar smell

Whenever I hear the words "he's a boyscout" - as I heard many times about both James Comey and Mike Johnson, I think, he's a rat.

Johnson was definitely part of their plan - a willing part. He hated JFK and he convened the Warren Commission with all these stooges, including future POTUS, Gerald Ford (which is undoubtedly why Ford was put in as VP with Nixon). They all knew this was going to happen, probably Nixon too.

Yes, the Kennedys had many enemies. These included; the CIA, Mafia, Cuba, Russia, FBI, and LBJ. The Secret Service wasn't lily-pure either. JFK was heading America toward policies of more peaceful international cooperation, and his enemies weren't having any of it. And if people think politically-related assassinations don't happen in America, they are totally naive.

Well, they haven't happened in a while. It's almost as if the "sicarios" have all retired. With all of the political hatred flying around, you'd think there would be a whacko or two who would make attempts.

Flying back from Dallas, there were two planes - the plane with Kennedy's body, and the plane for the Lyndon Johnson supporters who were all excited about taking power. The Johnson plane was disgusting.

Ford was a Warren Commission member and an insider too! When Nixon told the wrong person (as I recall head of the CIA at the time) he knew what happened to Kennedy they invented Watergate to drive him out making room for Ford.

LBJ's mistress famously alleged she was at meeting in Dallas with Nixon, LBJ, oil tycoons (another party with a bone to pick), Hoover & other intelligence types, etc. the night before or a few nights before it went down.

I don't know how many snipers, but I know enough about firearms to say there was more than one and Oswald probably didn't even count.

wasn't it kind'a strange how easily he was elected Speaker? especially after Jordan, Biggs, Donalds and others were dispatched? hmmm?!

If I recall, the House GOP was UNANIMOUS in electing Johnson - most of us had never heard of him. Recall how happy Elise Stafanik was at the election press conference. Ohhhh and, Stafanik voted FOR warrantless FISA - imagine that!?

Unfortunately, Trump is a narcissist and narcissists can't help it. They get high on the attention and get carried away, say too much. He seems to mostly mean well, but that's a serious detriment.
