A top official with the World Health Organization (WHO) has admitted during an explosive testimony that the vaccine passports pushed by the agency were just a scam to advance the global vaccination agenda.

Additionally, Dr. Hanna Nohynek testified that the WHO knew that Covid mRNA shots were ineffective but still pushed for the general public to be pressured into taking the experimental injections.

Dr. Nohynek says the WHO used the vaccine passports to force the public into complying with the vaccination agenda despite knowing the injections were ineffective against Covid.

Nohynek is the WHO's chair of the Strategic Group of Experts on Immunization and serves as the chief physician at the Finnish Institute for Health and Welfare and serves as.

The WHO dropped the bombshell revelations in a Helsinki courtroom while testifying in a lawsuit brought by Finnish citizen Mika Vauhkala.

Vauhkala is suing after he was denied entry to a café for not having a vaccine passport.

Nohynek testified in court that she advised the WHO and her government that vaccine passports were not needed.

However, Nohynek says she was ignored, despite explaining that the Covid vaccines were essentially "fake" because they did not stop virus transmission.

She also warned that the passports and vaccines gave a false sense of security.

During her testimony, Nohynek revealed that the WHO and the Finnish Institute for Health knew by the summer of 2021 that the Covid mRNA shots were completely ineffective against virus transmission.

She says the United Nations health agency knew the injections wouldn't stop the spread of Covid shortly after rolling out the vaccines in early 2021 but continued to push them, despite the risks to public safety.

During that same 2021 time period, the WHO said it was working to "create an international trusted framework" for safe travel.

Meanwhile, European Union member states began rolling out Covid passports.

As Slay News has previously reported, the EU has collaborated with the World Economic Forum (WEF) to modify the system to run as a "digital ID" instead.

This same system has been expanded to incorporate digital payments alongside ID while still supporting proof of "vaccination status."

However, during her court appearance on Thursday, Dr. Nohynek testified yesterday that her team advised the WHO and the Finnish government in late 2021 that Covid passports should be stopped.

She argued that forcing the public to take dangerous mRNA shots that were ineffective against Covid, and then making them prove their vaccination, made no sense.

Nevertheless, the vaccine passports continued to be required.

Dr. Nohynek's comments were reported by Finnish journalist Ike Novikoff.

Novikoff was in the Helsinki courtroom when Dr. Nohynek testified.

Dr. Nohynek's admission about Covid shots and vaccine passports proved especially shocking as she is widely renowned in global medical circles and a top immunization official in the WHO.

Besides chairing the WHO's strategic advisory group on immunizations, Nohynek is one of Finland's top vaccine advisors.

British cardiologist Dr. Aseem Malhotra also appeared in the Helsinki district court on Friday to testify in the case.

Malhotra testified that, during the pandemic, global government health officials and medical professionals supported unethical, coercive, and misinformed policies such as vaccine mandates and vaccine passports.

These policies sought only to vaccinate as many members of the general public as possible, regardless of the risks.

Malhotra notes that this mass vaccination agenda undermined informed patient consent and evidence-based medical practice.
